PARENT WORKSHOP: Infant/Toddler Massage Instruction; Wednesday, February 9th & 16th @ 9:30am Presenter Christy Nichols

Did you know that parents who participate in a massage instruction class with an IAIM massage instructor learn more than just massage techniques? In this instructor led, 2 day series, participants will learn about the four categories of massage, including Interaction, Stimulation, Relief, and Relaxation. In addition, you will practice and learn many different styles of touch, movement, interaction, and communication with your child during these enriching sessions.

Join us for virtual instruction on February 9th and 16th at 9:30 am to find out about the many ways infant & toddler massage can help your child and support you as a parent. Please be prepared for class in a quiet room/environment as well as by having your child, a blanket or towel, and a small bottle of cold pressed, unscented, vegetable, fruit, or nut oil (sweet almond, grapeseed, coconut, safflower, or sunflower oil; these can all be obtained at your local grocery store) readily available.
